

In this issue

Issue 194 Winter 2017

106

Compass

21

Editorial

Ben Evans reflects on the serendipitous synchronicity of being in the right place at the right time

29

Dialogue

HALI 194: The China Edition; ICOC XIV; Peter Pap's 'Artful Weavings'; 'Sanctuary'—contemporary prayer rugs; Istanbul Carpet Week; 'Textiles of the Nile Valley' conference in Antwerp; a Wyndham Lewis silk robe; California Oriental Rug Collectors' Meeting

32

Diary

HALI's pick of the best international fairs, exhibitions and auctions at the start of 2018

35

Calendar

Worldwide listings for the next quarter

36

Thread of time

Rachel Meek

A May Morris embroidery and a Yongzheng-period Chinese carpet were at the height of fashion when they were exhibited in the 1910s

38

Travellers' tales

Thomas Murray

HALI's peripatetic correspondent enjoys a week in Hong Kong packed with richly varied Asian textile and tribal art delights

43

Profile

Professor Wang Xuancheng is one of the few collectors of carpets in northwestern China

45

In memoriam

Jon Thompson

Thompson remembers his friend and colleague Dr Harald Böhmer, a pioneering student of natural dyes and Anatolian nomadism

47

Comment

Michael Franses

Clarifying the labelling of two silks from the collection of the Hermitage in St Petersburg

48

Anatomy of an object

A structural uniformity is disguised by apparent randomness on a late Ming-period Chinese carpet in the Beijing Palace Museum

Features

62

Articles of faith

Sandra Whitman

A study of the celebrated monastic 'pillar carpets' of China alongside other types of pile rugs used for Buddhist temple decoration

76

To have and to hold

A recent gift of small nomadic weavings is on display at New York's Metropolitan Museum, best known for its grand 'classical' carpets

80

Textile voyage

Thomas Murray

An outstanding example of one of the most iconic of all Indonesian textiles: the double red ship palepai of the Paminggir people of Sumatra in the Cooper-Hewitt Museum

82

A Persian weaving legacy

A collection of Persian tribal rugs and kilims on show for the first time at the China (Qinghai) International Carpet Exhibition in Xining in June may be a catalyst in the development of a wider interest in traditional carpets in the world's largest potential market

90

112

38

Reviews

86
From Ningxia to Nichols

Introducing Chinese carpets from the collection of Antique Rug Studio, New York ahead of an exhibition in Xining

90
Elegant Structure:
The Pattern of a Collection

Lyssa C. Stapleton

The late collector Lloyd Cotsen maintained a fascination for the way objects are made—and understood how a fragment can reveal the secrets of a complete textile

106
Chinese life

Betty Yao and Jacqueline Simcox

‘Through the Lens of John Thomson’ at London’s Brunei Gallery will include 19th-century photographic portraits that document Manchu and Chinese dress

112
From the hills

Lee Talbot

The Textile Museum curator introduces an exhibition of recently-acquired southwest Chinese minority textiles

118
Exhibition reviews

‘The Persian Garden’ curated by Lila Valadan at Naziri in Hamburg, Germany; ‘Nodi dell’anima’ in Lodi, Italy; ‘Silk Treasures: Azerbaijan Embroideries from the 16th-18th Centuries’ at the National Art Museum of Azerbaijan, Baku

124
Book reviews

The Barberini Tapestries: Woven Monuments of Baroque Rome by James Gordon Harper (ed.), reviewed by Nancy Arthur Hoskins

Marketplace

128
Report

Daniel Shaffer

The story of supply and demand for an instantly-recognisable genre: Chinese silk and metal thread rugs with inscriptions

132
Fairs

Emma Gardner

A contemporary rug designer visits the Antique Rug and Textile Show in San Francisco

134
Auctions

Daniel Shaffer

Sotheby’s November Rugs & Carpets sale was one of the most exciting and successful rug auctions seen in London in recent years

137
Auction price guide

London’s autumn sales included the Christopher Alexander and Howard Hodgkin collections

152
Last page

A working list of books and articles on Chinese and Xinjiang carpets

